(5) 21409

(6) 21410 ?? John

Notes:

All these Jamesons with the exception of John Jameson tie in via Maryland wills which state the relationships among them. How they may tie in with the other Jamesons as earlier mentioned*(1) is not established at this point. The Jameson family appears to have its genealogy and history based in England.

- Anne Jameson, born about 1668, probably in England appears never to have married. Will dated March 1, 1724, probated March 1, 1724 in St. Mary's county, Maryland.

“In the name of God Amen the 3rd day of February in the year of our Lord God 1724 I Anne Jameson of Chapticoe Forest in St. Mary's county in the province of Maryland being very sick and weake in body but of perfect mind and memory.....I devise and dispose of the same in this following manner and forme....”

To Margaret and Susannah, daughters of brother William Jameson, executor, to wife of brother, William Jameson, to Anne Buckmon, to Elizabeth Simms, to Elizabeth Donell, to Thomas Chamberlain, to Henry Jameson, to Charles Matinglee, to Giles Leill, to Robert Whitely, and to brother, Thomas Jameson, personalty.

- John Jameson, d. 1717 in St. Mary's co., MD. His household goods were valued at 26 pounds, 5 Shillings, the inventoried testated by Thomas Jameson and Benjamin Eden, March 18, 1717. Additionally, Thomas Jameson was the administrator of John Jameson's estate with payment going to William Jameson October 29, 1717. Thomas Jameson made an extra account May 9, 1719 on the Goods and Chattels of John Jameson. Mr. Jameson could have been one of three possibilities: a son, a brother, or possibly Thomas' father. No other records have come to light to clear the identity of this man.

(2) 21421 Henry Joshua, b. 1702; m. Elizabeth _____; d. 1733.

(8) 21427 Anne, b.c. 1716; m. Ignatious Spalding[7];

Notes:

Thomas Jameson's origins are decidedly confused. His earliest appearance may have been September 14, 1684 in the proprietary of St. Denis als Edmondsbury, which lays upon the northern section of Baltimore county. On the rent rolls for this period this Thomas Jamison rented 500 acres from Edmond Dennis, possessor of the land, at Sargents Hall. Annual rent amounted to one (1) pound. The farm land was/is situated at the headwaters of Gunpowder Run on the south side of the south west branch "at a bounded popular tree" south of York county, PA. some miles. Possible that this man may be related to any number of Jamisons then in residence in York county, PA. or even to William Jameson who emigrated to the American colonies in 1679 and may be the one in Talbot co., Md. At about the same time.

Did he emigrate? Maybe. Research conducted by Mrs. Donald Toso⁽²⁾ indicates that Mr. Jameson was from Lancashire, England, the eldest and heir apparent of the family fortune which “consisted of extensive coal mines and landed property”^{(3)}. Dispositions made by Mrs. Jameson’s sister, Jane Wharton ^{(4)}, apparently provide evidence of his travels to and from England in his quest for this legacy^{(5)}^{(6)}.

(copy of written disposition[7]). No such emigration documents discovered so far prove this. Additional legalities by his sister also supposedly shows that Thomas’ grandson, Henry Joshua Jameson,^{*(7)} also went to England to make a claim, but apparently died there failing to resolve the long standing conflicts.

Just when Thomas Jameson, Gentleman, migrated to Charles county is unknown. The earliest surviving record shows he was there in 1697, a testator for the will of James Pattison, dated September 23, 1697, and proved April 1, 1698. A 1699 document reads, “Thomas Jamieson, whose wife was widow and executrix of Ignatius Matthews, Charles county, 1699”. An earlier item states, “Ignatius Matthews married Mary Doyne, daughter of Joshua Doyne of Charles county”. One further document reads in part, “...Estate of Thomas Ignatius Matthews, late of Charles County, deceased, by Thomas Jameson, who married the widow of the deceased[7].” Mr. Matthews died in 1698, Charles co., MD.

Other records:

Purchased a rebel servant from the ship, Goodspeed, October 26, 1716[7c].

Will of John Jameson dated March 18, 1716-17, St. Mary’s county witnessed by Benjamin Eden and Thomas Jameson. No relationship mentioned.

Will of Winifred Lee(nunc), dated December 7, 1719, Charles county, “Child.(unnamed) to care of Thomas Jameson, who is to receive personal estate of testator and her husband and retain same until children are of age to receive their portions. Children are to be brought up Roman Catholic(courts allowing). Testator-Ann Heatheof.”

Testator for Oswald Haskins of Charles county was Thomas Jameson. Haskin’s will was dated January 14, 1720 and probated September 6, 1721.

Will of Anne Jameson of Chapticoe Forest, St. Mary’s county, MD. dated February 3, 1724 and probated March 1, 1724. Mentions brothers Thomas and William. She names Henry Jameson, but does not include the word, brother, leaving us to determine just who he was.

Deed of October 2, 1724, Charles co., Md., from Thomas Jameson to Marsham Queen, 300 acres for 36 £ land around Mile Dam; witn. Geo. Dent, Chas. Somrsett Smith.

Mr. Jameson owned a sprawling tobacco plantation called Spring Run. A mill was built on it later and the property is situated along Mill Run which empties into the Potomac. He also purchased from Thomas Mudd Halls’s Place, 450 acres, dated September 26, 1703. Mudd acquired from William Boarman through his daughter, Sarah (Boarman) Mudd, mother of Thomas Mudd, a gift of land called Hall’s Place. No records to date provide any date of death for Mrs. Jameson though it was after Thomas’ death. Mr. Jameson’s will was dated November 17, 1733 and probated April 6, 1734 in Charles county and reads as follows:

“To son Thomas, during life, all those parts of the several tracts following, viz.: “Hall’s Place”, “The Addition”, “Jarvis”, “Preston”, and “Queen Mary”, not heretofore sold and hereafter mentioned to young sons to whom it is disposed of, and after decease of sd. son Thomas all afsd. lands (300 A.) to be divided between his two sons John and Thomas and their hrs.; and 20 s.

He also gave to Frances Jameson and also 25 shillings to each of her children for 1 year's schooling.*⁽⁸⁾ Mr. Jameson's will was probated June 15, 1759, Charles co., MD. On June 10, 1755[3a], Mr. Jameson requests for a "rebound" of Hall's Place and part of George's Rest which his father, Thomas Sr. purchased from Thomas Mudd of Charles co., MD, March 2, 1710[4].

His will was dated September 9, 1758 and proved June 15, 1759. He mentions sons, Thomas, Henry Joshua, and William Jameson in which he leaves his land to-Hall's Place and The Addition; wife, Frances, daughters, Eleanor and Elizabeth; executors: Henry Joshua Jameson, Frances Jameson.

- Thomas III was bequeathed Hall's Place and the Addition consisting of 150 acres plus. He left this to his brother, William Jameson, in 1786. In a disposition by Ann Burch, age 78[3c], states she's known Henry from birth and he is the only surviving male son of Thomas and Frances Jameson. William Queen, age 70, *⁽⁹⁾ states also that he knew Henry from infancy, knew him as the surviving heir, and had sailed in 1758 to England to obtain the estates there. Henry J. Jameson in his disposition of 1796 names his friend, Francis Newman, attorney at law to obtain the estates in Lancashire and the coal mines in Wigan, Lancashire county, England. Notes:

Having died before his father, Henry's two sons, Henry Joshua and Richard Jameson, rec'd their rightful inheritance from their grandfather. Some of the estate personalty was passed on to the boys as well as 25 shillings each for one year's schooling. This fairly well documents that they were quite young at the time and probably the only two children Henry and Elizabeth Jameson gave life to. The will of Thomas Jameson also provides support that Henry's son, Henry Joshua Jameson, was born not in 1743 as the gravestone suggests, but rather ten years earlier and just before his father's death.

Mr. Jameson's will was dated August 30, 1733 and probated November 6, 1733 in Charles county. He names wife, Elizabeth, as executrix, and sons, Henry and Richard, who received the plantation which consisted of parts of Hall's Lott and Hall's Place. Witnesses were: Alexander Adair{Adear}, Marsham Queen, and John Boone. Mr. Jameson was mentioned in the will of Anne Jameson February 3, 1724.

Notes:

Joseph Jameson was residing in Bryan Town Hundred in Charles county between 1775-1778[1]. He received from his share of his father's will, Hall's Lot and Indian Fields on both sides of Mill Run, Hall's Place, The Addition, and Jarvis, "being of the manor contents which lieth between Mill Run and dwelling house, Spring Run. On August 26, 1767, he sold part of Hall's Lot to Edward Edelin[3a]. In a 1755 disposition he claims his father was Thomas Jameson[3b] and that he was then 64 years of age in a 1777 disposition[3c]. In the following year he and his family removed to Prince George's County where he took the Oath of Allegiance.

His will was dated March 26, 1774 and proved February 6, 1781[2,3] in Charles county. He mentions son John, leaving the plantation, daughters Mary Smallwood, Margaret Swann, Elizabeth Jameson, Ann Jameson, Martha Jameson, and Henrietta Jameson; sons-Benjamin, Leonard, Henry, and Monachie; wife, Ann Jameson. Witnesses were Ignatious Boarman, William Jameson, and William McPherson.

Notes:

Mr. Jameson was a farmer. He received from his father portions of Halls Lott and Halls Place which came originally from his grandfather, Thomas Jameson. These lands divided between himself and brother, Richard, were passed to him in 1754 when he turned 21. However, it appears that Henry in 1774 had purchased a portion of the "Merryland Tract", 575 acres, and may have removed there some time in that year(see next paragraph for more details). Yet the 1790 Maryland census shows him to be in Bryan Town Hundred in Charles co., and in 1800 in Urbana, Frederick county. Because of this discrepancy it is difficult to determine whether Baker, Ignatius, and Samuel were born in either Charles county or Frederick county.

Mr. Jameson's death provides another difficulty as well. His gravestone lists October 24, 1815, age 72. Subtracting the age, the year of birth is 1743. Yet, Mr. Jameson could not have been born then if his father had died in 1734. Either the stone was mistakenly carved wrong, or Mr. Jameson was actually 82 years of age, instead, or Henry was born in 1743, making him some other man's son. The will of Henry Joshua states a son Henry, 1733 & probated 1734. Too, Thomas Jameson lists grandsons, Henry and Richard, heirs to Henry Jameson of Charles co., MD. Henry is also listed in the 1800 census. ^{*(12)} This seems to confirm that an error in the gravestone engraving resulted.

In the 1790 census, Henry's son, Benedict, is in Frederick co., MD, but he appears to be the only one to have settled there at that time. It isn't until the 1800 census that Henry and some of his other children, Ignatius, Leonard, and Oswald seem finally settled in Frederick county. It would seem that while Henry purchased land in the "Merryland Tract" or Frederick county, he had not intended to move there until later, yet providing some incentive for his son, Benedict, to move north earlier, and possibly so to "prepare the way", perhaps. The land in question lay along the Frederick and Knoxville road, occupying 5,000 acres (two years later it was increased to 6300 acres) granted by Governor Benedict Leonard Calvert to Capt. John Colvill, November 5, 1731. When Covill died, his son, Thomas, inherited the estate, and upon his death, his son, Francis Colvill became the owner and executor of the grant. Residing in Virginia, Colvill, along with George Washington and John West Jr. administered the tract of land. It remained intact until 1774 when Henry Jameson purchased the 575 acres in the "Merryland Tract". In subsequent years the area was settled by English speaking people from the eastern counties of Maryland, Virginia, and Great Britain.

Notes:

Little is known of this side of the family other than the meager information that some records have provided. The listing of the children may even be incorrect, though the data from the source, Maryland Historical Magazine shows Sarah Jameson, widow, b. 1710, d. 1795, *(13) and lists the following children: Thomas, Nancy, Harriet, George, Raphael, Sally, and Maria. The balance comes with some trepidation on my part from the Bucy file, a home grown family tree with mixed lineages.

Mr. Jameson was listed in the 1775-1778 census for Charles county, residing at Bryan Town Hundred along with James and Joseph Jameson. The 1783 County assessment shows Benjamin Jameson having 620 acres, parts of "Timberwell", "Boarman's Manor", and "Queen Mary", the latter he purchased from brother, Henry[5], and the former heired to sons Samuel, Thomas, and Raphael.

Is this the Jameson who died in 1787 and whose will was probated September 24, 1787, Charles co., MD? In the will he bequeaths to his children after his wife's death all estate, real and personal, "first reserving to William Queen all land his father bought of my father"[8]. He names the following people: wife, Sarah; children-Walter, Samuel, Thomas, Raphael, Jesse, Catherine, Teresa, Sarah. In one comment Benjamin states according to Toso, "To son Walter he left a clock he heired from estate of his uncle, Joseph Jameson, and a mahogany desk". Was this Bernjamin's uncle or Walter's? Inventory of the estate was taken April 8, 1788 which consisted of 36 slaves. His son, Jesse, became the guardian of his brother, Walter December 1, 1788[8], and his daughter, Sarah, was appointed the ward of her mother, Sarah at the same time.

His wife was listed in the 1790 Census for Maryland showing 1 male over 16, 3 females, and 26 slaves. She left a will[5b] March 13, 1792, proved April 6, 1795 leaving children Walter, Samuel, Thomas, Raphael, Jesse, Elizabeth, Sarah Boarman, and Leonard.

Mr. Jamison married March 13{12}, 1796, Prince Georges co., MD., to Margaret Ann Boone, who died 1837, Frederick co., MD., the daughter of Alexis and Mary (Smith) Boone.

Notes:

Mr. Jameson, born in Charles co., MD., seems to have settled at an early time in Frederick co., MD, possibly as early as the 1780s to help oversee some of his father's earlier properties acquired back in 1774. He was a Colonel in the militia provides a death as March 23, 1804, age 44 years. In 1793 & 1794, Benedict Jameson was a member of the House of Delegates from Frederick county.

Mrs. Jamison married after Benedict's death, Tobias Belt on April 15, 1811, in Frederick co., MD., the son of Jeremiah and Ann (West) Belt. Alexius Boone on October 17, 1820, deeded to his son-in-laws, Oswald Jamison, and Tobias Belt, for the sum of $3000.00 25 slaves, "...along with the wheat, rye and corn, now on the lot I live on" with his stock of horses, cattle, hogs, sheets, household and kitchen furniture, wagons, carts, and miscellaneous farming utilities which "I purchased at the sale of Benedict Jamison's personal Estate...". Mr. T. Belt was evidently an influential man in his time. He was a friend of Governor Thomas Sim Lee and like the Governor, instrumental in the erection of St. Mary's Church in Petersville, MD. While Lee gave a $1000.00, Belt gave an acre of land. Belt was related to the Lees through marriage(see accompanying diagram). Mr. Belt devised to his friend John Lee, Esquire, the right to one acre on which St. Mary's Church was built near Petersville. He also deeded six additional lots located in Georgetown which were bequeathed to him through the executors of Thomas S. Lee, Sr., deceased. Mr. Belt's will was dated February 9, 1828 and probated April 1828, Frederick co., MD.

Notes:

There is some question concerning I. H. Jameson and his birth. In the 1775-78 census for Charles county, his name(spelt I. Henry Jeamson) appears along with Thomas Jamison taken at Newport West Hundred[4]. Could Ignatius have been born prior to 1760? If so, he would have been at least 36 years of age with his first wife, and over 47 years of age with his second. Or could there have been a second I. H. Jameson in Charles county?

Mr. Jameson received from Joseph Smith, husband of his sister, Catherine Teresa Jameson, a seventh portion of lots 17 & 18 of the Merryland Tract located in Frederick county.

Mr. Jamison was a slaveholder in Maryland and just prior to the eruption of the Civil War, many of these men like Jamison held several meetings for the purpose of protecting their property. In June of 1859, a county convention was held in Frederick to select delegates to the State Slaveholders Convention. Some of the men elected were Richard Thomas, Jacob Young, Ignatius J. Jamison, Francis J. Jones, Dr. Jonathan W. Hilliary, Thomas S. Lee, John L. Belt, and 46 others. The convention reflected the concerns and sentiments of the delegates and those they represented, but made no new laws or regulations ^{*(15)} in opposition to the north's gathering might toward the slavery issue. In 1860 a law had been passed to stop the efforts of the "freedom shriekers" and the effects of manumission. The 1860 census showed the results of freeing slaves in that county: of the 8,054 inhabitants of Frederick City, for instance, 1,254 were freed negroes.

Notes:

Mr. Baughman was a newspaper man and a native of Frederick co., Maryland having been born on the "Merryland Tract". His father was a well known farmer and his grandfather a renoun sea captain, who brough over many of Frederick county's settlers. John Baughman attended St. John's College and later went to Baltimore as a merchant. He had a reputation for honesty and integrity and in 1841, studying under General James M. Coale, became a lawyer passing his bar exam in 1843. In the year he was married he purchased "The Citizen" which he successfully handled. In 1862, he was arrested by Federal authorities for supposed "disloyal utterances and conduct" and incarcerated in the old capitol in Washington. Shortly afterwards he was released through the incession of Honorable Henry May and Robert J. Brent of Baltimore. In 1863, the newspaper was suspended from going through the postal system by then Postmaster General Montgomery Blair, though it never stopped publishing. Its success now laid with pstrons and friends, who distributed the paper for him throughout the nation. Again, in 1864 he was arrested, his paper suppressed, his property confiscated, and he and his family sent south beyond Federal lines for his inflammatory editorials against the United States Government. There he was given a position in the Third Auditors office by his old friend General John C. Breckinridge.*(16) John Baughman returned to Frederick co., MD in 1865 and his wife, and daughters, Corinne and Mary Louise, and her son, Charles, given asylum by Col. Dearmont of Clark co., Virginia until the end of the war. Baughman's son, Louis Victor, joined the Confederate Army, and served with Early, Breckinridge, and McCausland. The young Baughman was captured at Moorfield, W.V. and imprisoned at Camp Chase, Ohio, released just before the fall of Richmond. Remaining in Frederick City, John Baughman resumed publication of "The Citizen". His health, poor from a contracted illness during his stay in the south, prevented his appearance as a delegate at the National Democratic Convention in Baltimore to nominate Horace Greely in 1872. While Greely was anti-slavery, he recognized a general amnesty after the war to help with the reconstruction of the south. But his more liberal views angered far too many people who aligned against him in that year.

TOSO DOCUMENT, Disposition taken from Charles County, Deeds Liber 51 G No. 3, 1758-61. As follows:

"I, Jane Wharton, wife of Henry Wharton of St. Mary's County, Maryland, gent., fifty years old, was personally present at the house of Mrs. Jane Doyme, in St. Mary's County, and saw a certain Mr. Thomas Jameson married according to the rights of the Church of Rome by Rev. Wm. Hunter, to my sister, Mary Matthews (widow of Thomas Matthews), and that on or about December 20, 1699, I was personally present at the home of said Thomas Jameson in Charles County when my said sister, Mary, was delivered of her eldest son, Thomas, who is now living. This Deponent further says that Mr. Thomas Jameson, her brother-in-law, went one or more times, during his intermarriage with her said sister to England, and she had frequently heard him say he was next heir to a large estate in England, which he could not expect to enjoy during his lifetime, but hoped it would come to some of his children some day, and this Deponent further saith that the said Thomas Jameson, her said sister's husband, departed this life on or about the 18th day of November 1730 and that for several years before his discease he was in a very weak, lanquishing condition, and further saith not. Sworn to by the within-named Jane Wharton the 16th day of January, 1738, before me the subscriber, one of his Lordship's(the Lord Proprietary), his Justice of the Peace for Charles County.

signed John Briscoe, J. P."

7. Thomas Jameson's son's, Henry and Thomas, both had sons named Henry Joshua Jameson. It is unknown whether any of Thomas' other sons had a son so named. Yet of the two known only Thomas Jameson Jr.'s son, Henry J. Jameson, was likely to have sailed to England and died there. Henry J. Jameson Sr.'s son, Henry, died in Frederick co., MD. in 1805.

8. WILL OF THOMAS JAMESON(21420-3)

In the name of God Amed. I, Thomas Jameson of Charles co., in the Province of Maryland being in perfect health (praised be God) do make this my last will and testament as follows these things:

9. A brother of Sarah Queen, b. 1726, Charles co., MD.

10. Since this Henry was born in 1733, he could not have been the son of Henry(18021) and Elizabeth Jameson who died in 1733 and noted as deceased in grandfather's, Thomas', will of November 1733. If this is the case, then Henry Joshua Jameson who married Elizabeth Pye, may have been the son of Thomas and Frances Jameson(18020). This would make more sense.

11. There is some discrepancy with Benjamin Jameson. Other genealogies note that Benjamin, the son of Thomas and Mary Doyne Jameson, married Sarah Queen and that there was no intervening generation. On the other hand the Bucy reference states that Benjamin, son of Thomas and Mary, had married Sarah Pye. Then again, this latter source also states that he had a son, Benedict, who married Margaret Boone, which is patently false. Yet, the following points counteract the Toso document:

a) The 1790 census shows separate listings for Benjamin Jameson and Sarah Jameson.

b) Toso contends that Benjamin was b.c. 1719, an arbitrary date at best. This would make him abt. 41 when his first child, Walter, was born.

c) Maryland Historical Recs, v.68,p.67 shows a Sarah Jameson, b. 1710, d. 4/9/1795. If this was Sarah Queen, she would have been in her 50s having her 1st children.

d) Thomas Jameson I was b.c. 1665. If Benj. was b. 1719, Thomas would have been 54. If Benj. was born abt. 1719 Benjamin would have been in his 40s having children.

e) Thomas II, Mary, Martha, Henry, and Joseph all had children born in the late 1720s and 1730s.

Was a generation missing? Could Benjamin, son of Thomas & Mary, have married Sarah Pye, 1st, then Sarah Queen, 2nd? Or can the situation support Benjamin, b. 1709, m. Sarah Pye, had issue, Benjamin, b.c. 1733, m. Sarah Queen, and have children abt. 1760?

12. Until the 1810 census for Maryland is checked out, or some other record comes forth, no determination of Henry's death can be made.

14. This date, the year, is called into question by the source which gave it (Names In Stone, Holdcraft, p.620). The listing reads, "Jamison, Catherine w/o Ignatius 10 Aug. 1825(?) age 65; eroded(Frdk. Cath. 198)".

15. Of historical note, the law of manumission became a steadily increasing route for those in slaveholder states to formally release an individual or group from slavery, personal bondage, and servitude. Fairly common in the colonies, manumission rewarded individual slaves for instance for some special service or affection a slaveowner felt toward his people. In Frederick co., especially around 1860 "many slaves escaped and the work of manumission was rapidly going on." -History of Frederick co., MD., Williams, 1910, p.221.

16. John Cabell Breckinridge, 1821-1875, American lawyer, soldier, and politician, was born near Lexington, Ky. Educated at Centre College and Transylvania University he served as a Major in the Mexican War. He served, too, in the State legislature, as a member of Congress, 1851-1855, and elected in 1856 as Vice President of the United States on the same ticket with James Buchanan. In 1860, he was nominated for President by the southern fraction of the Democratic Party and defeated by Lincoln. He became a U. S. Senator immediately afterwards, but resigned to join the Secessionists. At the outbreak of the Civil War joined the Confederate Army becoming a Major-General under Jefferson Davis in 1862 and took part at Shiloh, Murfreesboro, Chickamauga, Chattanooga, Cold Harbor, and the Shenandoah campaign in '64. He was Secretary of War in Davis' cabinet in '65, and at the close of the conflict escaped to Europe until 1868 when he returned and devoted himself to law. (Funk & Wagnalls Encyclopedia)
